FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HUGUENOT AND GEORGE WYTHE HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS TO GAIN AWARENESS OF DIVERSITY AND PREJUDICE AT PROJECT INCLUSION

Jamestown, VA – 60 students and educators from Huguenot and George Wythe High Schools will participate in a Project Inclusion retreat program led by the Virginia Center for Inclusive Communities. The program takes place from Thursday, October 1 – Sunday, October 4, 2015 at the Jamestown 4-H Educational Center. This program is sponsored by the Jackson Foundation.

Project Inclusion brings high school students together to discuss a variety of topics, including prejudice, race, gender, ability status, immigration, socioeconomic status, religion, sexual orientation, conflict resolution, and leadership. While at Project Inclusion, participants gain valuable skills to help them deal with group dynamics, conflict management, intergroup relations, communication, and advocacy. Students develop action plans in order to help bring about inclusive changes in their school culture. They return from the program as empowered and skilled agents of change and unity, having adopted a goal to reduce bias and prejudice.

“Through Project Inclusion, students are able to better demonstrate understanding and appreciation for their peers and neighbors who are from the variety of racial, religious, and ethnic groups that make up their schools and surrounding community,” says Jonathan Zur, President and CEO of the Virginia Center for Inclusive Communities.

Student participants unanimously agree that the program provides the skills to help them identify issues and to work for different causes. Over 97% of past participants believe that Project Inclusion will help them to contribute to people getting along better in their schools. One student commented that as a result of Project Inclusion, “I can be the difference I wish to see in my school and I can be an inspiration to others.”

Members of the press are invited to visit Project Inclusion anytime during the retreat. The preferred visiting times are: Thursday, October 1 from 7:30pm - 10:00pm; Saturday, October 3 from 7:00pm – 9:45pm, or Sunday, October 4 from 9:45am - 11:45am. Students and educators will be available for interviews.
